Simple Past

In English, we use the 'simple past' to talk about PAST EVENTS. For example – what we did YESETERDAY, or what we did LAST WEEK.

This is different from 'simple present' which we use to talk about current EVENTS. For example – what we generally do in everyday life.

SIMPLE PRESENT EXAMPLE – I play football every Sunday.

SIMPLE PAST EXAMPLE – I played football last night.

SIMPLE PRESENT EXAMPLE - I go to work every day.

SIMPLE PAST EXAMPLE - I went to work on Monday

With simple past we often change the present tense verb (play) into the past tense verb (played) by ADDING – 'ed'.

However, as English is very strange, we have some IRREGULAR past verbs, that do not end in –'ed'.

We will use 3 PAST IRREGULARS, related to shopping.

Present tense – go	Present tense – buy	Present tense - spend
Past tense - went	Past tense – bought	Past tense - spent

Activity 8 – Your Last Shopping Trip

Using the IRREGULAR verbs above (went, bought, spent), discuss your last shopping trip (in partners).

Activity 9 – Role-play

1. You are buying lingerie for your girlfriend, but you don't know her size. The shop assistant tries to help you.

2. You are in an Apple store. You want to buy an Iphone 6, but it is very expensive. An Apple shop assistant tries to persuade you to buy it.

3. You want to buy some gym shoes, but there is a lot of choice. You call your friend to ask for advice.

4. You think your friend should buy a new bed and sell his old bed on 'leboncoin'. Your friend does not agree, and wants to keep the bed.

Extra Activity - Memory Game

In this game, the first person will say

I went shopping and I bought….a banana (for example).

The next person must repeat what the first person said (a banana) and add another (fish) for example. Then the next person must repeat what the first person AND second person said, and then add another
